Inside front cover:

Stars and Children

Stars and children have long been symbols of hope. For the children and families served by St. Louis Children's Hospital, that hope is most visible in the faces of the doctors, nurses and other staff members who care for the children who come through our doors.

But there are others who quietly make a difference to these children, yet go unrecognized. Their foresight and planning have created legacies of hope that shine on children like the stars in the sky, turning compassion into action, transforming hope into healing.

For these people who have chosen to share a portion of their life's work with children, we have created the Stars Society.

Membership

Membership in the Stars Society is open to everyone who has provided for St. Louis Children's Hospital in their will, estate plan, charitable trust or by any other planned gift. In appreciation, the hospital offers the following to Stars Society members:

- Recognition in the hospital's donor hall, located on the second floor of St. Louis Children's Hospital
- Recognition in the hospital's Annual Donor Report
- Invitation to an annual event to thank the members for their philanthropy
- Exclusive invitations to learn about some of the most exciting developments in pediatric medicine

Why Should You Reveal Your Charitable Legacy and Join Stars?

By making known your gift for St. Louis Children's Hospital, you will demonstrate a commitment to the hospital, to your community and to children. Other people who know and respect you may follow your leadership, increasing the impact of your decision.

Should you choose to join us, you will have an opportunity to see firsthand how your gift will make a difference. You will join others who share your values. You will provide a legacy for children – offering them a brighter, healthier future.
